STUDYING IN GERMANY
2018

Welcome to VERBUM NOVUM!

„Verbum Novum“ is Latin and it means „the new word“ or „the new expression“. This already reveals our activity and intention: we offer German Courses in Germany for juniors, adults and families from all over the world. The German language schools in Mainz, Munich, Nuremberg and Berlin are located in the cities, where our students can both enjoy the language training and discover Germany by visiting its nice historical places. This is also important for developing a feeling for the language. To get acquainted with a culture, traditions and mentality of the people makes the learning much easier. In all-day situations the students learn new expressions and practice new words learned during the classes. The excursions and free activities in summer programs help to extend the vocabulary; especially our vacational programs both for juniors and adults allow them to combine the useful and the pleasant! Experience the summer programs for adults and juniors, for ex.: summer and winter camps in Mainz/Wiesbaden, Berlin and Munich and the summer courses for adults in Berlin! But also year-round schools in Mainz, Nuremberg and Munich can organize the excursions for students.

The full immersion programs (Learning & Living at Teacher´s Home) are offered both for adults and juniors in different cities and considerably increase the opportunity for learning German faster and more effective in its natural environment. Apart from German Courses, we offer also academic services as university placement assistance. This service can be very interesting for course participants willing to study at a German University.

As the language schools are located in university cities, the crossover from the course student to the university student in the city already familiar builds a bridge between two stages and makes the way much easier.

NEW in 2018!

The Germans and Their Country

Germany has many attractions and offers more than beer, cuckoo clocks and the Neuschwanstein Castle.

Many people abroad associate Germany with big cars, sauerkraut, beer and also with classic music, poets and thinkers like Goethe and Schiller. Besides, keywords like „The Second War“, „The Berlin Wall“ cross the mind of the foreigners, when they think about Germany. The label „Made in Germany“ stands for high quality and reliability. Germany enjoys a good reputation worldwide. The favourite travel destinations of tourists are Munich and the Neuschwanstein Castle, Roman Mainz and Cologne on the Father Rhine River, Heidelberg etc.

German efficiency and reliability is highly appreciated all over the world. It is said that Germans are reliable and punctual, but also friendly and helpful.

Germans have a special passion for football too, 2006 gave them a special bonus of sympathy. German films attract world-wide attention.

To build a true image of Germany, you should come and see it by yourself, because seeing is believing!

Are the Germans Superstitious?

Black cats, chimney sweepers, lucky pigs.... the faith in lucky charms and the fatal harbinger are becoming ever more popular in Germany. Every other German believes in the positive effect of a four-leaf clover. One in four Germans associates the number 13 with bad luck. Here are some examples for typical German lucky charms, have you heard of them before?

Typical German Lucky Charms

Four-Leaf Clover

As four-leaf clovers are very rare in the nature, you need to have a little bit of luck, to find one. It is important that four-leaf clovers had been found by pure chance. During travels it should protect the traveler from evil. There is a biblical connotation to it: Eve Bible has taken the four-leaf clover in memory of the paradise. So if you happen to be the holder of a four-leaf clover, you can consider yourself the holder of a small part of paradise.

Lucky Penny

The lucky penny or the Glückspfennig, as it is called in German, is the symbol of richness. Giving it away – physically, as well as symbolically, means you wish that this person will never run out of money. The historical background: the lucky penny is seen as a small disbursement of the golden Thaler, which you must always have with you. It is supposed to bring good luck and to protect its owners from evil.

Ladybeetle

The ladybeetle or the Marienkäfer is said to be a messenger from heaven, sent by the Mother of God. It protects children and heals the sick, when it flies to them. You may not shake it off or kill it! If you do so, it will cause you harm. The Marienkäfer is the favorite motif on greeting cards and postage stamps. Farmers believe in the usefulness of the ladybeetle. The seven dot-ladybeetle is named keymaid in Sweden. The seven dots shall refer to the seven good-nesses of St. Maria.

Chimney sweeper

In the past it was a disaster for a household, if the chimney was plugged up or drew badly, as it was impossible to make a meal and it was cold. In this case the only salvation was a chimney sweeper. With him, the luck returned back home. Nowadays it shall bring luck, if you touch the golden button on his jacket.

Horse shoe

As a horse was always a symbol of strength and power, but also a noble and precious animal, the horse shoe, which protected the animal, was also seen as a lucky charm. As shoeing a horse was found by the Romans, the horse shoe in all nations became a symbol of lucky charm, because it also protected the precious animal. Especially for farmers it was said to bring much luck, to find a horse shoe.

In the past the horse shoe was clamped on ships, to assure a safe voyage. If you clamp it on the door, it shall protect your home from evil, especially in the position similar to the letter „C“ as in „Christ“.

Lucky Pig

Already for the Germanic peoples, the boar was a holy animal. A pig is therefore the sign of wealth and richness, as it was always seen as a symbol of fertility and power. Besides, the Greeks and the Romans believed those people as privileged, if they had many pigs, so ...much nutrition. It is very popular to give away marzipan pigs, especially for New Year 's Eve. In the middle ages a pig was always a consolation gift. You may hear the German saying „Schwein haben“, it means „one is lucky“.

FULL IMMERSION PROGRAMS

Living & Learning at teacher´s home

The Full immersion program is the program involving you totally in the language environment, so you are not only learning German language during lessons, but also apart from the classes. The private atmosphere encourages you unconsciously to speak German free without any inhibitions. The teacher will instruct you not only during the lessons but all the time.

In this program you get rid of daily travelling to and from school and of contact with any students speaking your mother language. This is the best opportunity for one´s experience, living with and being taught by the private teacher. In some cases, you can be placed in a German family and a teacher comes daily to you for giving lessons. The advantage of such program is - listening German speech from the different parts. This supports your listening comprehension. After the classes the learning process goes on, as you participate in the family´s daily and social activities, taking part in the life of a typical German family as any family member. This way you learn the mentality of the culture, what gives you the opportunity to get the feeling for the language in its natural environment, so you ‚lives the language‘.

All homes and teachers have been carefully selected. Verbum Novum tries to look for the perfect family to match your interests and age. All teachers have either a teaching certificate or a university degree (or an accepted equivalent).

This program is available for students without any age restrictions and can be started on any convenient day. 2 students traveling together can also participate on this program at reduced cost as long as they arrive and depart together and both participants are at the same language level. If these conditions are fulfilled, they can share the teacher.

Qualification for University Admission in Germany

There are some opportunities for foreign school-leavers or students to get the admission for a German university.

Here you can read about standard requirements for getting the necessary qualification for university admission. Within our academic services, we can assist you with the placement to max. 3 universities.

High-school living certificate equal to the German one named Abitur is the most important requirement. Some countries have a similar educational system as Germany (12 or 13 years of school education). The citizens of these countries have direct access to studies at German Universities. However, the students with a different education system can obtain the equivalent of Abitur by the following ways:

- fill a gap by learning at Study Preparatory College (Studienkolleg) for 1 year
- study at a home university for 1 or 2 years
- to have a diploma (from your country) of absolved degree.

Some exceptions are possible. The universities can require also some additional documents/certificates.

The following requirements refer to the knowledge of German Language and are compulsory:

- to study at a Studienkolleg the students need at least B2 Level to pass the admission test. Verbum Novum offers preparation courses for this test. Students who have TELC B2 or other certificates can be exempted from the examination. It is possible to pass TELC exams in our school in Mainz.
- to study at a university you have to be on C1/C2 Level and pass successfully the DSH-exam. This exam can be passed only at a university. The preparation courses for DSH are offered by our schools in Mainz and Munich. The students can be exempted from the DSH exam, if they provide the TELC C1 Hochschule Certificate or other to the university. The TELC C1 Hochschule exam is possible to pass at the Verbum Novum School in Mainz.

Studienkolleg Placement Assistance

What is Studienkolleg?

Studienkollegs are predominantly the state educational institutions, where the study applicants with the foreign university admission qualification, which is not equivalent to the German Abitur (qualification for university entrance), will be prepared for the academic study at the German University.

Whether the studienkolleg has to be attended or the foreign applicant has the direct admission to the University in Germany, the qualifications approval office of the university (or other institution), with whom we get in touch within our service "university placement assistance", will decide about it. The visit of the Studienkolleg is mostly free of charge, although the college students have to pay one small semester fee. The college students will be prepared subject-specific within 2 semesters (1 year) course for the university study. Depending on the chosen faculty the college students will be allocated to the adequate specific courses. Mostly there are offered 4 or 5 course types:

- G–Course for humanities
- W–Course for economics
- M–Course for medicine
- T–Course for technique
- S–Course for philology

In all the courses German is a obligatory subject and the language of instruction is German in all subjects. At Studienkollegs the German language course for the absolute beginners will be not offered. The college students must have good knowledge in German at the time of access to the Studienkolleg. Moreover for the T-Course the good knowledge in mathematics is required. However the knowledge of school program in mathematics should have every applicant. As besides German Test, the applicants have to pass also mathematics. Besides the college students learn the skills and abilities, so named key qualifications. These are: working with the text resources, writing of the argumentative and analyzing texts and composing of the simple seminar works, the structured writing down on the lectures. After the 2 semester study the college students have to pass the asserting final exam, through which will be asserted, that you have the subject specific knowledge on the level of Abitur. With the successfully passed exam the college students apply for the study place at a preferred university.
